

Summit International Flooring

High resolution photography available on request

For immediate release

David Numark
dnumark@summit-flooring.com
877-496-3566

Summit Announces Feng Shui Flextile, Flexible Bamboo Flooring Green, Resilient, Sound Absorbing Alternative for Commercial & Residential Use

LIVINGSTON, NJ - Officials with Summit International Flooring have announced the introduction of Feng Shui Flextile, a collection of innovative bamboo tile flooring. Constructed of richly colored bamboo surfacing backed by latex, Feng Shui tiles are extremely resilient and durable for both commercial and residential applications.

"Feng Shui Flextile is an ideal flooring solution for today's market," explains Summit President David Numark. "It's as affordable as it is fashionable, with a durable bamboo surface that's harder than most woods."

Feng Shui Flextile is innately green thanks to the renewable nature of its primary component, bamboo—a hearty, sustainable grass that grows easily and abundantly. The product contributes to LEED® (Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design) points as a low-emitting and rapidly renewable material and carries Green Guard certification for its ASTM-tested sound reduction and moisture resistance properties.

According to Numark, the lightweight construction of the tiles offers distinct advantages, in terms of shipping costs and ease of installation.

"The tiles are very easy to handle," Numark explains. "That means they're affordable to transport and extremely simple to work with during installation, giving the product extended cost advantages."

Feng Shui Flextile brings harmony to commercial and residential installations.

Crafted in seven warm, wood-inspired color options, Feng Shui comes in generous 19.7"x19.7" tiles that may be turned during installation to create a distinctive parquet effect. The sure-fit tiles are flexible to be quickly installed around curves or other normally challenging configurations. Prefinished with six coats of BonaKemi Naturale sealer, Feng Shui requires no sealing or on site finishing during installation and is extremely low maintenance for long-term beauty and performance.

Feng Shui Flextile is available nationwide. Additional details may be found in the product section of the Summit International Flooring website at summit-flooring.com.

Summit International Flooring is the premier U.S. source for the world's most exclusive, high-end flooring. Founded on a commitment to offering quality products of superior design, Summit International sources globally and services domestically to ensure U.S. customers the world's finest array of flooring products and personalized attention. Call toll-free 877-496-3566 or visit summit-flooring.com for details.