Summit International Flooring products to be installed in 2011 Esquire Apartment NYC

Livingston, NJ – The 2011 Esquire Apartment in New York City will be completed this month and will feature two unique flooring options offered exclusively by Summit International Flooring.

Each year since 2003, Esquire has taken over a stunning living space – to date, four penthouses in Manhattan, four mansions in Los Angeles – and transformed them into spectacular masculine spaces that the press has dubbed “The Ultimate Bachelor Pad.”

The Apartment is an experimental showcase for best-in-class brands and world renowned designers and this apartment will be a must see A-list destination for fall of 2011.

The 2011 Esquire Apartment is The Clock Tower loft in Dumbo; a 6,800-square-foot triplex (plus roof deck) with four 14-foot clocks with glass faces providing 360-degree views. The loft features a custom 3-story glass elevator.

Chosen by designer Denise Kuriger were Summit’s CLASS “leather” rubber tiles from Italy, a unique rubber tile with the look of real leather and Feng Shui Flextile, a sustainable, durable bamboo tile. Both of these sleek, dramatic flooring options will be utilized in the gym and massage room respectively, on the 17th floor of the property.

David Numark, owner of Summit International Flooring and Ms. Kuriger worked closely together to specify colors and styles to fit the décor perfectly.
